TRENTON STATE COLLEGE, TRENTON, N. J.

Vol. LXXVII No. 70

Juried Exhibits By TSC Prof

Howard Goldstein

The art work of Mr. Howard Goldstein, Assistant Professor of Art at Trenton State College, will be shown at four major national juried exhibitions during the month of March.

Mr. Goldstein, a frequent prize winner and exhibitor in local and national exhibitions, will have serigraph prints on view at the Northwest Printmakers, Thirty-Fourth International Exhibition to be shown at the Seattle and Portland Art Museums and at the American Color Print Society Twenty-Fourth Annual Color Print Exhibition in Philadelphia. A large oil painting by the artist is now on view at the National Academy of Design's 138th Annual Exhibition in New York City. The Ball State Teachers College Drawing Exhibition will display a drawing by Mr. Goldstein at the annual show in Muncie, Indiana.

The works shown in these exhibitions have been selected by juries made up of prominent artists, art critics and museum curators and directors.

DEBATE SQUAD SCORES IN LOCAL CONTEST

Just recently seventy-five high school debaters competed in Trenton State's first annual invitational debate tournament, sponsored by the Debate Squad under the direction of Frank Clark, a member of the Speech Department.

Arriving early in the day, the visiting teams drew for positions on the schedule which included four rounds of debating on the subject of the European Common Market, had two rounds before lunch, and completed the day with two more rounds in the afternoon. Judged primarily by students from our own squad, with the assistance of other student majors from Speech Arts and Speech Correction, the visitors appeared to be well pleased with the evaluations given. Our own students felt that the experience had provided an excellent opportunity to observe some of the outstanding work done by the seven schools represented, namely Ewing Senior High School, Pennington Senior High School, Cathedral High School, Notre Dame High School, Trenton Central High School, Hamilton High School, and Steinert High School.

An interesting innovation was tried in the third round of debates in which the visitors were given an impromptu topic to see if they could analyze a subject quickly, prepare cases under duress, communicate ideas effectively, and defend arguments against opposition. Our students were amazed at the facility with which these secondary school students worked, especially since a split-team method was also used in which strangers, composed of debaters from different schools, formed teams without previous preparation for the round. The change in pace from the annual, national topic that these people had been debating all year gave additional stimulus to this enthusiastic group. Everyone seemed to enjoy the experiment.

Final results of the tournament were given to the coaches involved, but no general announcement was made of over-all wins or losses because schools were encouraged to use inexperienced debaters along with varsity members, to experiment with new arguments, and to use students on both sides of the question. Educational debating, not competitive debating for trophies or prizes, was stressed throughout the whole affair.

As a result of the satisfaction expressed by all concerned and the excellent cooperation of everyone on the campus in making this tournament a success, members of the Debate Squad are eager to plan two affairs next year, one for secondary schools and one for colleges.

Student judges for the tournament were the following: Maryanne Korch, Bruce Seaman, Mary Ward, Laura Leger, Mary Lou Schack, Margaret Foley, Barbara Comiskey, Maria Clark, Clarice Rogers, Sue Gemza, Carol Higgins, Mary Bechtel, Dorothy Gleason, Sandy Mueller, Barbara Hemingway, William Hogan, Rose Meyers, Carol Deischer, Janet Johnson, and Carmela Guarino. Patricia Zuchek and Mimi Geiger participated as coordinators.

Early in March, the following squad members will travel to Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster, Penna., for a two-day, competitive tournament: Maria Clark, Janet Johnson, Patricia Zuchek, Laura Leger, Sue Gemza, and Barbara Hemingway. On March 9, Margaret Foley, Maria Clark, and Mary Lou Schack traveled to the City College of New York.

Junior-Senior Soirée March 30 At Ivy Stone Inn

Benny Snyder and his Orchestra

Elaborate Setting For J-S Go

The annual Junior-Senior Formal will be held on Saturday, March 30 at the elaborate Ivy Stone Inn. The accommodations will include a private entrance, private lobby, private coatroom, and a full-acre ballroom. The Ivy Stone Inn is located in Pennsauken, New Jersey on Route 130 about 30 miles from Trenton.

This year the Junior-Senior Formal will feature the well-known orchestra of Benny Snyder with Frank James as vocalist. Benny Snyder's Orchestra has spent the last three years touring colleges and universities throughout the country and is remembered at Trenton State for their successful performance at the Christmas Formal in 1959. This year they will come directly to Trenton State from an engagement at the University of Virginia.

The formal, one of the highlights of the year, is presented by the junior class. The chairman this year is Tom Fox, vice-president of the junior class.

The dance is open to juniors and seniors and their guests. Admission is free and tickets will be distributed in Phelps Hall at a later date.

AID TO EDUCATION MARCH 23 AT TSC

A most interesting, day-long conference on "Aid to Education in New Jersey" will be conducted on Trenton State's campus Saturday, March 23. It is being co-sponsored by the New Jersey Region of the National Student Association and the Student Executive Board. An impressive list of speakers is listed including the New Jersey Commissioner of Education, a former gubernatorial candidate, national and state legislators, and three conflicting national student organizations—NSA, Young Americans for Freedom, and American Democrats for Action. All aspects of financing education in N. J., state, local, and federal, will be discussed and acted upon.

Student Delegations from colleges and universities in the state will be present, Princeton University, Monmouth College, Glassboro College, etc. The Student Executive Board has provided for admission of all interested Trenton State College students and strongly urges their participation. Students may sign for a particular workshop by contacting Bill Puzo, Chairman, NJNSA; Diane Creitz, Vice-Chairman; Gary Parsons, or Judy Guerin in the SEB office. The agenda for the day is listed below.

Tilton and Babbitt Go To Frankfurt

Chosen as exchange students to Frankfurt University Teachers College are Lois Tilton and Warren Babbitt. These students will spend the 1963-64 year in study and travel as Trenton State College's student representatives in the new Trenton-Frankfurt Interinstitutional Affiliation Project. The Project calls for an exchange of professors, students, and educational materials and is expected to be a cooperative program to continue in future years.

Miss Tilton is a Sophomore English major from Lawrenceville. She has been active in the International Club.

Mr. Babbitt, a Sophomore Music major from Linden, has been active in Choir, Drama, and is a member of Phi Mu Alpha fraternity.

debaters are eager to have single engagements during the evening after class hours on other topics with such schools as Trenton Junior College, Monmouth College, and Penn State on the Ogontz campus. Two of the new topics now being prepared for these debates are concerned with a fifth year of student teaching or internship for all graduates of Trenton State College and the conscription of all American citizens for essential services, such as Civil Defense. Practice sessions are now being conducted on these propositions.

Members of the squad who are eager to have more students participate in these activities, wish to extend to the student body to attend the weekly meetings held on Monday from 6-8 p.m. in McLees Lounge.

Hilda S. Wagner To Have Show

On Sunday, March 17 the college community and general public are invited to the Phelps Hall Art Gallery (the South Lounge) for the opening of an art exhibit by Hilda Stahl Wagner, the Chairman of the Speech Department of the college. The exhibit is a varied one consisting of oils, monoprints, assure leage and mosaics. Most of the paintings are representative of her last summer's work in Provincetown, Mass. where she studied with the recognized New York City artists, Leo Maso and Victor Kaudell.

The mosaics, shown for the first time, were created in Positano, Italy, where she studied with the well-known Roman artist, Mr. Michaelangelo Conte. For a few years, Mrs. Hilda Stahl Wagner studied intermittently with Philadelphia and Bucks County artists such as John Foster, Martin Jackson and Beu Solowey.

Following the opening on March 17, the exhibit will be open from 5:00 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. through March 27.

Foreign Language Program Offered By Michigan State

EAST LANSING — Students at colleges and universities across the nation are eligible to participate in a unique foreign language program in Europe, offered this Fall by Michigan State University in cooperation with the Foundation for European Language and Educational Centres of Zurich, Switzerland.

Twelve-week intensive language programs will be offered, beginning Sept. 30, in French at Paris, France and Lausanne, Switzerland; in German at Cologne, Germany; in Italian at Florence, Italy; and in Spanish at Barcelona and Madrid, Spain.

Deadline for applications for the Fall program is March 27.

As an integral part of each program, students will make frequent field trips and participate in seminar-type discussions devoted to the cultural, political, social and economic institutions—past and present—of the country in which they are residing.

Language students will reside with European families in order to more quickly gain linguistic proficiency and to understand more fully the people whose language they are studying.

Cost of the program varies between $750 and $850, depending upon location, and includes round-trip air transportation, room, board and tuition. Participants will leave New York for Europe Sept. 23, and return Dec. 23.

Persons interested in the fall program, or similar programs scheduled for Winter, Spring and Summer 1964, may obtain applications or additional information by contacting F. J. Mortimore, Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

T.S.C. DELEGATES REPORT ON DOMESTIC PEACE CORPS

During the weekend of March 1, 2, 3 a National Student Association sponsored conference appraising the proposed National Service Corps was held. This conference was attended by a Trenton State delegation consisting of Bill Puzo, Frank Van Dalen, Ann Naples, Joyce Traphagen, and Gayle Sherman. The purpose of the weekend was to solicit American student evaluation and suggestions for the President's study group on the NSC. It was also intended that, through the participating students, many campuses would be informed of the Corps, and prepared to aid in its organization if and when it becomes real.

The Domestic Peace Corps, as it is more commonly known, is proposed as a limited volunteer group under an independent federal agency. It will not be a massive effort to remedy the nation's poverty and depression, but rather, specialized projects in specific areas of the nation. The Corps' primary purpose is to dramatize the needs of the underprivileged in America, thus spurring existing welfare agencies to initiate more effective programs. The National Service Corps Bill will be introduced to Congress in April, and if passed, will find its first volunteers in the field by late fall. Many of these volunteers may possibly come from Trenton State College, as with the present Peace Corps. The bulk of the volunteers of the NSC will probably be college students and retired senior citizens.

In the event that the NSC Bill is passed by Congress, an informative program will be conducted on campus. Presently, students are urged to press for the National Service Corps. Information desired concerning the Corps may be obtained through the Student Executive Board.

Letters To The Editor

I WANT TO BE ON I.S.C.

Dear Editor:

"Inter-Sorority Council or Irate Sister's Coalition"

Democracy, according to Webster, is the acceptance and practice of the principles of equality of rights, opportunity, and treatment; a lack of snobbery: as, there is real democracy in this school. But is there? Is it possible that the basic principles of democracy can really be disregarded in a country that continues to shout its praises even to the point of defending those principles in such cases as the American Revolutionary War, World War I, World War II, and possibly World War III? You're darn right it's possible because it has happened right here at good ole Trenton State College.

The critics of this letter will probably say that this writer is being highly idealistic. But am I? Is it highly idealistic to apply democracy on a strictly local level especially if you believe in it? I don't think so. What would a believer and defender of good ole American democracy say if he found out that an organization not unlike the Inter-Sorority Council of Trenton State College was acting as a legislative, judicial and executive body all rolled into one?

If he were writing this letter he'd say it was undemocratic. It would be undemocratic for a man to sit on a jury and pass judgment on a person who killed his wife, wouldn't it?

Yet that is precisely the principle that the Inter-Sorority Council has adopted. Biased and prejudiced opinions were used as votes to mete out justice in a case where a member sorority of the organization broke a rule. It is not the writer's purpose to defend this delinquent sorority but rather the purpose is to criticize the method used to deal with the situation. Wouldn't it have been more democratic to argue the points of that situation through the use of arbitration or by means of an unbiased panel of jurors? You bet your sorority banners it would have. Situations or problems developing due to breaking rules, dirty rushing (I'm sorry I used those nasty words, girls) and the like, could be dealt with fairly and justice could then be democratically met.

The writer will then continue to be idealistic in his closing by stating that he feels confident that the leaders of the Inter-Sorority Council will realize this fault in their organization and do everything possible to correct it.

Yours truly,
Frank Van Dalen
2nd Vice President
Student Executive Bd.

WALK IN MUD AND "GROW WITH NATION"

Dear Sir:

I believe it's about time there was some retaliation of sorts, as to the dissension as well as confusion posed hereabouts, as to conditions on the Campus.

There have appeared in the "Signal", which as I am given to understand, is, the Student body, Faculty as well as Staff paper, many rebuttals as to both the careless as well as inattentive attitude shown on "Beloved" students, by both Faculty and Staff, concerning the aforementioned conditions.

Here let us assume, that the confusion and present conditions are the "price of progress". Without these, there would be no progress, and this great land of ours

ATTENTION "MEN"

Dear Editor:

It is practically inconceivable that the admissions office could be so consistent in admitting a certain type of male student now attending classes here. Immaturity seems to be the best description for the Trenton State "men".

We are referring to the boorish, childish antics of a certain group of individuals who attended the movie on campus last Saturday night. "The Diary of Anne Frank" is definitely not the proper type of entertainment for these "men". Some of the activities which are appropriate to the nursery school would be more suitable.

We often hear complaints about the female students preferring the male students from other colleges. Is it any wonder? Not only are males lacking in quantity here they are also lacking in quality. We wonder why the male population which does not fit into this category of animals does not stop approving their juvenile behavior. A little courage on your part would be appreciated by the students who are not ignorant.

And here is our last horrifying thought. In four years or less these "men" will be responsible for a class of children. Can they possibly be future teachers? These babies? We pray that our children need never have their lives influenced by this group of "men".

WHY DON'T YOU GROW UP!!!

A Disgusted
Female Population

Are You A Neanderthal?

It is a shame that sometimes students don't act like students and adults at all, but more like immature Neanderthals. The weekend movie program on campus has obviously been a success and enjoyed by many of us. Whether through lack of something else to do, lack of funds, or the appeal of the films shown, Kendall Hall is well-attended on Saturday and Sunday nights. The program is financed by student funds through SEB and is certainly worth the appropriation. Still, some students, male and female, consistently disregard the above facts and the consideration of others and put on quite a show of their own during every movie. You may find these students smoking, eating, drinking (not soda), and yelling anything from Heil Hitler to "You can't avoid these students, for regardless of where you sit, you'll hear them. I am sure that something should be done, and will be done by SEB and/or college authorities concerning this problem."

Sincerely,
Bill Puzo

"Is There Really A 'Culture Explosion'?"

Copyright, 1963, American Institute of Public Opinion

P RINCETON, N. J., Feb. 19 — Culture in the U. S. may be "exploding," but it has a long way to go to match the appeal of TV westerns and the comic strips.

These two "lowbrow" pursuits—frequently cast in the role of arch-villains contributing to America's lack of cultural interest—far exceed in popularity more "highbrow" diversions such as painting, music, and literature.

In an attempt to answer the question: "Is there really a 'culture explosion'?", the Gallup Poll asked a sample of U. S. adults about a number of their current interests and activities.

Some highlights of the findings:

* Some 11 million adults play a musical instrument of some kind at the present time.

* An estimated 10 million adults occupy at least some of their leisure by painting—in oils, water colors, or other techniques.

By way of contrast, however... Some 50 million adults read the comic strips.

* About 72 million adults are fans of TV's "horse operas."

Other revealing findings from the "culture survey":

Some 14 million adults have in their home an original work of art of some kind—painting, sculpture, wood carvings, and so on.

Judging from the descriptions given by these art owners, their taste runs heavily to representational art—people tend to describe their paintings as "realistic," or "natural."

The survey also finds that the great majority of Americans have little interest in the field of contemporary literature—only one adult in six named a recently published book that he would especially like to read.

Gallup Poll reporters went to the public with a card listing four activities, and asked:

"Do you happen to do any of these now?"

The percentage replying "Yes" to each of the four:

Watch "westerns" on television? 67% 72 million adults

Read the comic strips? 45% 50 million adults

Play a musical instrument? 10% 11 million adults

Paint—in oil or water colors? 9% 10 million adults

All adults in the survey were further asked:

"Do you happen to have any original works of art in your home done by a professional artist? By 'original' art, I mean, of course, not a copy or reproduction."

HAVE ART IN HOME?
Yes, have art in home 13% 7 million households
No, do not 87% 48 million households

Interviewers also asked:
"Is there any recently published books that you would especially like to read?"

RECENTLY PUBLISHED BOOK ESPECIALLY LIKE TO READ?
Yes 16% 17 million adults
No 84 91 million adults

ODE TO "FADED RAG"

To Whom it May Concern (which should include everybody),

THE FLAG

When I was just a little lass Sitting in my first-grade class, My good ol' teacher said to me, "This is our flag; now look and see.

"The colors are red and white and blue, The symbol of our country, bold and true."

So we were all with pride instilled And kept it in our hearts until... I made the scene at Trenton State—

Wonderful college, really great! In Kendall Hall there stands a flag;

The best analogy would be a rag. But instead of red, white, blue, The blue now has a purplish hue. Besides the fact that it's tattered and torn,

The symbol of our country stands forlorn. I think it is a great disgrace: A brand new flag should take its place!

This is worth consideration For it's the symbol of our nation. So let's do something and do it fast.

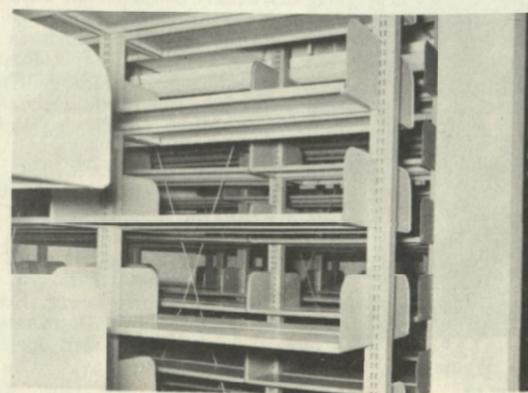

That faded rag ain't gonna last!!! Signed,

Two fine, upstanding, PATRIOTIC, healthy, normal, American Sophomore English Majors, E.M. and E.F.

WAVE Recruiter Will Visit Trenton State

Lieutenant (junior grade) Beth F. Coye, U. S. Navy, Women Officer Programs Officer in the Philadelphia Recruiting District, will visit Trenton State College on Wednesday, March 20th to present the Navy WAVE Officer Program to interested young women. She will be in Phelps Dining Room, room number D.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., Lieutenant Coye entered the Navy in February 1960 to attend the Women's Officer Candidate School, Newport, Rhode Island, where she was commissioned as an Ensign in April of that year. Her first duty assignment was at the U. S. Naval Justice School in Newport as Assistant Personnel Officer. Lieutenant Coye brings a thorough understanding of Navy life to her recruiting assignment because of her family background. Her father, a graduate of the Naval Academy, Class of 1933, is Rear Admiral John S. Coye, Commander, Amphibious Group Three, with headquarters in San Diego, California.

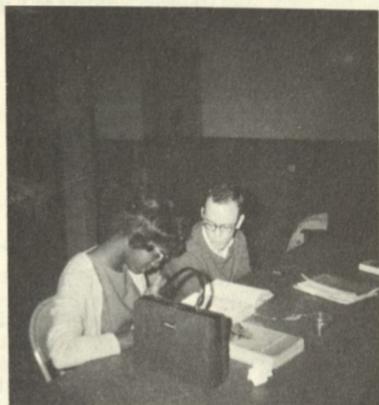

Conditions are getting worse; please return your overdue books.

All Articles for SIGNAL MUST be in Publications Office No Later than 10 A. M. Saturday or else they will NOT Appear in the next issue.

Trenton Tutorial Project

The Trenton Tutorial Project, brought into being by Princeton University and Trenton State College students, was initiated into the East Trenton community on Monday, March 4th. At 4:00 p.m. that afternoon, students from Junior 1, Junior 2, Trenton High, and Woodrow Wilson School met individually with their tutors in selected community centers in the neighborhood. There the college students began an assessment of the student's academic difficulties, and started the tutorial assistance which will work to alleviate or lessen these difficulties.

In the orientation program the tutors had been given a picture of a typical "culturally deprived" child; slow learning, suspicious or often hostile, with a dearth of middle class cultural experiences, but nevertheless possessing the ordinary human needs for growth and fulfillment of potential. Each tutor found his child uniquely different from the picture. Some of the children were slow learners, but others were bright students who were working on a lower level than their ability might indicate. Though a few of the children were openly suspicious, most tutors could report cooperation and very often enthusiasm on the part of their tutees.

The students are being tutored in a variety of subjects, including reading, social studies, English, shorthand, math, science, mechanical drawing, Spanish, and Latin. The choice of subject depends on the tutee, and often he chooses more than one; for example, he might ask for social studies because of poor marks but also ask for science because of special interest in that field. The tutoring is usually done in some quiet spot at the center, whether it be a choir loft, kitchen, or church basement.

There are approximately 120 tutors in the entire program, from Trenton State, Princeton University, and Princeton Seminary. Each tutor has only one tutee, as it is felt that a closer personal relationship can be built with this limit. They meet for an hour and a half per week in a designated community center, preferably near the student's home. Some centers now in operation are the East Trenton Civic Center, Galilee Baptist Church, St. James Episcopal Church, the Y.M.C.A., and the Donnelly Homes. Others will become active as the program expands.

The Tutorial Project at Trenton State is affiliated with the Human Relations Committee, which recommended many of the tutors, and 16 of those members are in the project. Other tutors were recommended by faculty members, or themselves expressed interest in the project to the committee. Ron Glick, a sophomore political science and history major at Princeton is leader of the entire project. Directing the project at Trenton State is Ann Naples, a senior elementary major; group leaders include Judy Dotzert, Elizabeth Uchtmann, Gay Gaston, Marcia Levitt, Connie Smith, Joanne Kiely, and Marianne Potocki. Other Trenton State tutors are Irene Andreeff, Sue Bookstaber, Joanne Bucceroni, Carolyn Clark, Judy Conner, Maija Dambis, Diane Davis, Pam Fairhurst, Victoria Ferus, Shelly Gottlieb, Judy Guerin, Doug Harris, Nancy Havens, Roy Gottiaux, Diana Johnson, Sue Doert, Meredyth Johnson, Marilyn Kaduson, Kathleen Kearney, Arlene Krasnanski, Marilee Koslowski, Annette Marino, Audrey Matthews, Barbara Minkin, Kathy Moss, Elaine Narayiak, Sue Ormond, Margaret Parronchi, Barbara Quick, Sheila Randolph, Kevin Roche, Judy Sedwick, Carol Vergari, Judy Thirkelson, Sue Walling, Carol Weaver, Rosetta Wilmore, Barbara Young and Gail Zimmer.

There is still a possibility of being placed as a tutor for the rest of this semester. If interested, contact Ann Naples, OW 5-7241. Students from all curriculums are needed.

Written English Tightened At Queens College

Flushing, N. Y. — (I. P.) — Standards in written English will be tightened at Queens College in a move to improve student literacy and to check the careless writing habits of upperclassmen.

Professor Robert H. Ball, chairman of the department of English, announced the change and said that the new program had been under study by his department for the past year and had been officially approved last spring.

The main effect of the English department's new ruling will be to require freshmen enrolled in the baccalaureate program to take two consecutive semesters of composition. After one semester of required composition, Professor Ball said, a student who earns a grade of "C" or better, however, may be exempted from the second semester of work. Students may qualify for exemption from English 1 (first semester) by means of the College Board Advanced Placement Tests. Only one semester of composition is presently required for the degree.

In addition, any student who has met the normal writing requirements for the degree but who is found unsatisfactory in writing in any college course or in the arts division comprehensive examination may be reported to the English department for assignment of remedial work.

Any student found seriously deficient in mechanics, grammar, and elementary organization may at any time be required to enroll in a non-credit writing clinic given in the evening session, for which he must pay a fee.

Professor Ball estimates that about 15% of that part of the current freshman class now taking English 1 (composition) will be required to enroll in the new English 2 (composition) this coming spring semester when English 2 will be given for the first time.

HOW TO GET EDUCATED ALTHOUGH ATTENDING COLLEGE

In your quest for a college degree, are you becoming a narrow specialist, or are you being educated in the broad, classical sense of the word?

This question is being asked today by many serious observers—including my barber, my roofer, and my little dog Spot—and it would be well to seek an answer.

Are we becoming experts only in the confined area of our majors, or does our knowledge range far and wide? Do we, for example, know who fought in the Battle of Jenkins' Ear, or Kant's epistemology, or Planck's constant, or Valsalva's maneuver, or what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey?

If we do not, we are turning, alas, into specialists. How then can we broaden our vistas, lengthen our horizons—become, in short, educated?

Well sir, the first thing we must do is throw away our curricula. Tomorrow, instead of going to the same old classes, let us try something new. Let us not think of college as a rigid discipline, but as a kind of vast academic smorgasbord, with all kinds of tempting intellectual tidbits to savor. Let's start sampling tomorrow.

We will begin the day with a stimulating seminar in Hittite artifacts. Then we will go over to marine biology and spend a happy hour with the sea slugs. Then we will open our pores by drilling a spell with the ROTC. Then we'll go over to journalism and tear out the front page. Then we'll go to the medical school and autograph some casts. Then we'll go to home economics and have lunch.

And between classes we'll smoke Marlboro Cigarettes. This, let me emphasize, is not an added fillop to the broadening of our education. This is an essential. To learn to live fully and well is an important part of education, and Marlboros are an important part of living fully and well. What a sense of completeness you will get from Marlboro's fine tobaccos, from Marlboro's pure filter! What flavor Marlboro delivers! Through that immaculate filter comes flavor in full measure, flavor without stint or compromise, flavor that wrinkled care derides, flavor holding both its sides. This triumph of the tobaccoist's art comes to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box and can be lighted with match, lighter, candle, Welsbach mantle, or by rubbing two small Indians together.

When we have embarked on this new regimen—or, more accurately, lack of regimen—we will soon be cultured as all get out. When strangers accost us on the street and say, "What was Wordsworth doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey, hey?" we will no longer slink away in silent abashment. We will reply loud and clear:

"As any truly educated person knows, Wordsworth, Shelley, and Keats used to go to the Widdicombe Fair every year for the poetry-writing contests and three-legged races, both of which they enjoyed lyrically. Well sir, imagine their chagrin when they arrived at the Fair in 1776 and learned that Oliver Cromwell, uneasy because Guy Fawkes had just invented the spinning jenny, had cancelled all public gatherings, including the Widdicombe Fair and Liverpool. Shelley was so upset that he drowned himself in a butt of malmsey. Keats went to London and became Charlotte Bronte. Wordsworth ran blindly into the forest until he collapsed in a heap ten miles above Tintern Abbey. There he lay for several years, sobbing and kicking his little fat legs. At length, peace returned to him. He looked around, noted the beauty of the forest, and was so moved that he wrote Joyce Kilmer's immortal Trees. . . And that, smart-apple, is what Wordsworth was doing ten miles above Tintern Abbey."

Religious Conferences Open To All Students

Whenever the world undergoes a revolution, an historically-oriented religion such as Christianity must become incarnate in the new age. The task of rethinking and rediscovering the relation of the Christian faith to its historic context is now thrust upon us with a dramatic urgency never known before. We, as Christians should be concerned about the unsatisfactory nature of our separation of church and the world settlements. What can we do?

This year delegates from various Christian student groups in the Middle Atlantic Region met together to try something new. The result—two ecumenical conferences to study how the Word and Sacrament are relevant to the ministry of the church to men in the world today. This theme represents the current emphasis of the National Student Christian Federation, "The Word, World and Sacrament". This in turn is part of the "Life and Mission of the Church Project" of the World Student Christian Federation.

These two conferences, April 19-21 at Camp Lebanon, N. J. and April 26-28 at Hartman Center, Milroy, Pa. are sponsored by the following regional movements:

The Lutheran Student Association of America—North Atlantic Region; Methodist Student Movement of New Jersey and Pennsylvania; Baptist Student Movement of New Jersey and Pennsylvania; Canterbury Associations, Province Two and Province Three; United Campus Christian Fellowship, Penna. & New Jersey Region. This means students from colleges and universities from these areas just mentioned will be participating jointly in these two conferences.

No A.F.R.O.T.C.?

Go A.F.O.T.S.!

These letters stand for Air Force Officer Training School—the gateway to an Air Force career for ambitious college men who didn't have the chance to enroll in AFROTC.

OTS is a tough course. But it's a great opportunity—one that may not always be available. If you're within 210 days of graduation, we welcome your application now. We can't guarantee that we'll be able to in a year.

As an Air Force officer, you'll be a leader on the Aerospace Team. You'll be serving your country while you get a flying headstart on an exciting career.

The U.S. Air Force is at the forefront of every vital new technological breakthrough of the Aerospace Age. It sponsors one of the world's most advanced research and development programs—and you can be part of it.

OTS is open to both men and women. For information, see your local recruiter.

U.S. Air Force

The two speakers are John Vannorsdal, graduate of Philadelphia Lutheran Seminary, former Lutheran Campus Director at Cornell University, presently Chaplain at Gettysburg College and Robert James, a graduate of Yale Divinity School, former Secretary of the Middle Atlantic SCM, presently Protestant Minister to Temple University. In the dialogue to take place during the conference, Mr. Vannorsdal as a Lutheran, is expected to take an 'orthodox' position and as a Quaker, Mr. James is expected to take a 'liberal' position.

Can we as individuals seek renewal of the church in its life and mission? Can we begin to re-examine our selves and the life and thrust of our Student Christian Community? YOU are invited to participate in one of these conferences, to listen, question and enter into dialogue as a student trying to find a line from your existential need to a Christian affirmation. This is an ecumenical conference and is open to all who wish to come. Applications are available from the following people:

Mary Ann Hoppe, Intervarsity Christian Fellowship, Mason House; Yvonne Picou, Canterbury Association, Norsworthy 218; Irma Marshall, Lutheran Association, Williams 23; Bert Galusha, Protestant Foundation, McLees 218; Carolyn Warren, President, State Baptist Student Movement, Norsworthy 214.

Jiminez and Guadelupe Pondered Pertinent Permeating Problems of Puerto Ricans

On Wednesday, March 6, 1963 the Trenton State College presented Mr. Jiminez of the Migration Division, Department of Labor of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and Mrs. Guadelupe, of the Trenton Council on Human Relations, speaking on the problems of Puerto Rican migrants to the United States. Mr. Jiminez gave an overview of the whole problem of immigration, and Mrs. Guadelupe concentrated on issues relevant to the Trenton area.

Mr. Jiminez pointed out that ours is a nation of immigrants, and that Puerto Ricans come to this country for the same reasons that our forefathers came: to build a better life for themselves and their heirs. Puerto Rican immigrants are willing to work hard, yet most of them find it difficult to rise above the very lowest paying jobs. Many of them have died serving our country in the armed services. Puerto Ricans are citizens of the United States, yet many of them suffer a greater degree of discrimination than any other immigrant group. Many Puerto Ricans intend to return to their homeland, and only come to the mainland to make money, yet many others wish to make the United States their permanent home. They have difficulty being accepted because many elements of their culture are so different from ours. Mr. Jiminez said that Americans should not rob Puerto Rican immigrants of all that they could add to strengthen and enrich our culture by trying to make them just like everyone else. Our heritage of cultural mixture has made us strong, yet we continue even today to discriminate against recent immigrants in employment, education, housing, and social relations. The only way the problems of the Puerto Rican immigrant will be solved is by improved attitudes, and improved efforts toward understanding by individuals.

Mrs. Guadelupe pointed out the employment difficulties of many Puerto Ricans in the Trenton area who wish to change from agricultural labor, but who lack skills and are ignorant of methods of applying for jobs. Oftentimes their lack of knowledge of English keeps them from jobs which they could handle. The cliché "last hired, first fired" is only too true for Puerto Ricans. Many of them go without welfare payments and unemployment benefits because they are too ignorant or too proud to apply for them. They are frequently taken advantage of by easy credit men, or "phantom unions" which take their dues, but give them nothing in return.

Puerto Ricans often live in the worst housing, and pay some of the highest rental fees. They are charged with overcrowding, because they cannot possibly pay the rent on their low wages, consequently they take in boarders, to help bear the burden. Many of the areas now housing Puerto Ricans in Trenton have not been approved by the Board of Health.

The Trenton Council on Human Relations helps Puerto Ricans overcome these problems in every way that it can. Many of them are now finding jobs in the state, county, and city governments.

"VENUS" IS THEME OF CHI LAMBDA RHO

"Hitch your wagon to a star". Using this as a guidepost, Chi Lambda Rho, Trenton State's newest sorority was born. Following this, the young group hitched their wagon to the morning star, Venus, which also signifies the high hopes the sisters have for the success of their sorority.

With the dissolution of Nu Delta Chi and Tau Epsilon Chi, the former sisters of both groups have joined to form this completely new sorority. Using as their theme Venus, the goddess of Spring and the mysterious planet, the sisters have picked as their colors, royal purple, lavender, and ivory. As their flower they chose the lilac, and their stone is the amethyst. Their mascot is the white deer.

As they enter into the rush and pledge season the sisters look forward to a future that is full of hope and room to grow in.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

New Jersey must further develop the structure of its system of higher education, especially in:

The graduate and professional programs of Rutgers, the State University

The State Colleges' becoming multi-purpose institutions expanded programs and facilities to carry more students in Newark College of Engineering

The establishment of two-year community colleges

New Jersey should provide opportunities in graduate and graduate-professional work in the public institutions of higher education for at least 50 per cent of New Jersey youth enrolling at this level.

The investment required for buildings and facilities to carry the increasing enrollments to 1970 is distributed:

Rutgers, the State University $ 70,794,240
Six State Colleges 51,033,240
Newark College of Engineering 17,669,189

Total $139,496,669

One-fifth of each sum proposed to be appropriated, beginning in 1963-64, in each of five successive annual budgets.

In the Fall of 1961, 45 per cent of New Jersey youth entering college enrolled in colleges and universities outside New Jersey. College Opportunity in New Jersey reported in 1957 that 57 per cent of New Jersey youth entering college enrolled in colleges and universities outside New Jersey. It is estimated that the trend to in-state enrollment by New Jersey youth will increase at the rate of 1 per cent per annum, so that in 1970 New Jersey will enroll 64 per cent of her youth in colleges and universities in New Jersey.

Collect Thoughts Without Collection—Visit Chapel

P. C. F.—Protestant Campus Foundation is presently meeting on Thursday evenings at 9:00 in McLees Lounge for informal discussion. The Director, Tom McNally, can easily be reached at 695-5232 and is anxious to meet and talk with you anytime.

P. C. F. invites you to attend church on Sunday mornings. The following local churches have been designated by their respective denominations, as 'student churches' and would be delighted to have some students from T.S.C. attend services. They will be glad to provide transportation if you need it.

Ewing Presbyterian, Scotch Rd., Ewing, TU 2-3673; Trinity Methodist, across from T.S.C. entrance, TU 3-9160; Grace Baptist, 700 W. State St., EX 4-1032.

Just a reminder, if you are looking for a place where you can be alone and quiet, the meditation chapel is open for your use. You will find devotional materials just inside the door, or you may just want to collect your thoughts and meditate for a few minutes.

ATTENTION JUNIORS

All Juniors are reminded that the personal references and placement information forms are due at the Office of Student Teaching and Placement on Friday, March 15, 1963.

STUDENT RECREATION FACILITIES

Last week the Men's Athletic Association, with the help of the Student Executive Board, took a major step in the opening of the college athletic facilities to the students of T.S.C.

The MAA had been trying for quite a while to open the old part of the gymnasium for student use on Saturdays and Sundays. The major problem was no money available for work scholarship to pay those students who would supervise the activities. The budgets are sent in a year ahead of time, and since the new part of the gymnasium hadn't been completed, there was no money allotted for such a program in the old gym. So the program remained at a standstill.

It was at this point that the MAA approached the SEB for an extension of funds to carry out the weekend program—and the SEB voted in favor to allocate funds with which to carry out the program. Congratulations to the MAA and the SEB! This is a program which has been lacking on campus and now that it has been made a reality it could and should prove to be a rewarding asset. Next year the funds for operating the program will be included in the yearly MAA budget.

The program will be supervised by Bob Thompson and Mike Curry. The hours for the gym will be 10-4 on Saturdays and 1-4 on Sundays. It should be noted that the program is open to women as well as men and it is hoped that both will avail themselves of the facilities. All equipment will be provided—it's up to the students to come and utilize it. Towel rental is 10¢. Next year it is hoped that the pool will also be included in the Saturday and Sunday activities.

It should be noted that this program is in a trial stage and that the T.S.C. students can make or break such an undertaking by the MAA. The MAA supplies the equipment and the facilities, but they are to be USED AND NOT ABUSED. Let's keep the program in operation.

NEW MEMBER OF THE TRACK COACHING STAFF

The track team has added a new position to its staff—that of amateur consultant—and it is to be filled by Don Bragg, former pole-vaulting Olympic medalist of the 1960 United States Olympic Team.

Bragg, who works for the Green Acres Project (a program designed to purchase land for the purpose of developing recreational facilities in New Jersey), set up the pre-training weight program for the track team and will start on a full-time basis later in the month when the team gets outside.

He is a graduate of Villanova University and is presently attending evening classes at T.S.C. so that he may gain certification in business education.

Bragg, who never cleared 16' while vaulting, refuses to accept the new records that are being set with the fiberglass pole. He is currently making national headlines by quite frequently voicing his opinion of the fiberglass pole whenever anyone vaults 16'. Bragg also had a strong and audible desire to play the role of "Tarzan" in the movies, but was never granted the part, much to his disappointment.

RANDOM SPORTS ITEMS

Coach Robert Salois has carded eight football games for next fall with two new opponents on the schedule. D. C. Teachers will appear here while the Lions will travel to Massachusetts for a game with Nichols College. Wagner, Brockport, Central Connecticut, Montclair State, Juniata, and Kings return to the slate. . . . Soccer Coach Mel Schmid has confirmed that Trenton State will host the Duke University booters in October. Fairleigh Dickinson will be another addition to the State soccer schedule. . . . Glassboro State College reportedly is starting intercollegiate football next fall with current basketball coach Dick Wacker ready to direct the gridgers. . . . Coach Ed Brink indicates that Delaware Valley College could return to the Trenton basketball schedule next year if suitable dates can be arranged. . . . Outstanding track stars from District 31 of the NAIA colleges will appear at Trenton State in May when we host the District Meet.

Trenton Varsity Tennis Team Has Veteran Squad Returning To Action

Fourth Consecutive Conference Championship Possible In 1963

The 1963 tennis season will be getting under way shortly, as Trenton State's New Jersey State Conference champions hope to maintain their title for the fourth straight year. The main problem at this moment seems to be the availability of courts for practice, for two of the three existing courts have trenches running through them as this is where the construction crews are laying the utility lines to the new dorm. DR. KENNETH RUNQUIST has been the coach for the last three years, achieving an extremely enviable record of 33 wins and only three losses.

Coach Runquist has a number of returning lettermen this year as well as several talented newcomers. Senior and captain, Tom Vivarelli, displaying a record of 34 wins and two losses, has proved to be one of the main backbones of the team. A lefty, Tom complements the play of several of the right-handers in doubles competition.

Senior Ed Fischer, with a record of 34 wins and 2 losses, has been another great aid to the team. Ed demonstrated his ability in the Rider Tournament last year against the eventual winner, Pete McNamara of Rider College. Ed lost a very close, hard fought match by the scores of 11-9 and 6-4. The main strength of his play is his aggressive hustle, with which he has downed potentially better players.

Sophomore Mike Iannone, the current men's champion of Burlington, has the potential to be an outstanding player. Last year he had a record of 8-4 and can execute all the shots with equal skill. He has been working very hard in practice; showing a real desire to play.

Sophomore Bill Austin, with a 9-3 record, improved a great deal near the end of last season, demonstrating a strong forehand in his matches. Austin will add a great deal of depth to the team.

Senior Bill Miller, with a 22-2 record, was undefeated for a season and a half. Bill continually amazed his opponents with his speed and his quick reflexes, and should prove as equally effective this year.

Among the bright spots in the newcomers is Max Fry, a transfer student from McMurray College in Illinois. From Max played the number two position in the very strong Illinois Conference.

Tom Molineux is also one of the newcomers who is fighting for the open positions on the team.

The team is also planning a spring tour in the South which will coincide with the spring vacation. This will provide an excellent chance for the team to get a head start on the season. All in all, it looks like an excellent year for the tennis team.

Editor's Note: Bob Mosier, the writer of this article, is also one of the mainstays on the tennis team and has been for the last three years. During the past three years Bob has posted a 34-4 record and in his sophomore year he landed a berth on the New Jersey State College Conference All-Star Tennis Team.

Season Ends For Women's Basketball

On March 6 the Women's Basketball Team climaxed their season by playing the Men's Basketball Team in a humorous game that was highlighted by fast action and a basket made by one of the men from his knees.

Women's regulation rules were used and the men had to shoot left-handed in the last quarter, but the men held their half-time lead and won 32-31.

Newark State was trampled by the Trenton Women's Teams on Feb. 26 by scores of 67-5 (Varsity) and 30-11 (J.V.). On March 1 the TSC women journeyed to Westchester and were overpowered by the Pennsylvanians 65-12 (Varsity) and 60-5 (J.V.).

Monmouth also lost to the Blue and Gold. Final score for the game played in Packer Hall on Feb. 19 was 45-37 in favor of Trenton. Final totals for the Women's Varsity Team are 2 wins and 3 losses and 2 wins 2 losses for the Junior Varsity.

PITCHING AND CATCHING CANDIDATES GET WORK-OUT

Coach Bob Salois has been putting the Trenton State pitching and catching candidates through their paces for the last week in an effort to strengthen the one weak spot on the State squad. Last year the Lions posted an overall 8-11-1 record while maintaining a team batting average of .300.

Salois was pleased to find six new mound hopefuls at the first practice on February 27 in addition to five returning veterans. Ray Hughes, who posted a 5-5 hurling record last season, Bob Jones (1-1), Denny Borai (0-1), and Paul Ristow (0-0) all are returning to the Lions club. New additions include freshmen Dave Glum, Joe Bumen, Wayne Griffiths, John Post, and Hank Rothbart and junior Chet Nahai.

Not much in the way of progress can be seen until the team is able to practice outside. The main emphasis now is physical conditioning. The coaches are stressing "getting in shape", especially working on the legs.

The State mentor has been able to get a better idea of what he and his staff will have to work with this week, since the remaining candidates and veterans reported for practice on Monday.

Handling the pitchers during early season workouts are two catchers: sophomore Joe Adochio, last year's most valuable player, and freshman Earl Ownes.

WRA Dorm Night Held on March 13

WRA Basketball Inter-dorm Night was held on March 13. At the time of publication the results were not known. WRA Commuter and Off-campus Day will be held on March 20 at 4 p.m. in Packer Hall. Teams will be composed of nine players of which not more than three can be varsity or junior varsity team members. Anyone not on a team who wishes to play can join a team that day. The top two teams from both days will meet in the playoffs on March 27.
